

Colin Low
Head of Investment Research
Wealth Management Alliance

Colin is Head of Investment Research at Wealth Management Alliance, a multi-family office that focuses on bespoke wealth management and investment advisory to a small and tight-knit group of high net worth families. Colin is a member of WMA's Investment Committee, responsible for reviewing and deciding top-down strategic and tactical asset allocation that give guidance to WMA's investment advisors in their engagement with clients. Colin also evaluates, performs due diligence, and ultimately selects funds for recommendation to clients across a range of asset classes, ranging from traditional equity and fixed income long-only mutual funds, to the alternatives space including hedge funds, private equity, venture capital and real estate. Colin holds a Master of Business Administration specializing in finance from the National University of Singapore.
